Under the Patronage of His Highness the Prime Minister

NoufEXPO and CAIT organize the 4th E-Government Forum

Press Release

Engr. Qais M. Almatari, Acting General Manager of the General Authority for Information Technology (GATI), announced today that the "4th E-Government Forum - Electronic Services For Excellence" will enjoy a new look and feel. He continued saying, "E-GOV became an essential tool at all IT professionals' governmental departments and municipalities in Kuwait, especially those who are mandated with delivering governmental services to citizens." He added, "The patronage of His Excellency the Prime Minister Sheikh Jaber Mubarak Al-Hamad Al-Sabah for the 4th consecutive year represents the invaluable support that Kuwait's political leadership is providing to CAIT's role in improving the e-government program for the government and its citizens. We are delighted to announce that His Highness the Prime Minister will be represented by His Excellency Sheikh Mubarak Al-Madlai, Minister of State for Cabinet Affairs, as a member of the Board of the Central Government Agency for Information Technology, in inaugurating E-GOV 44 and its accompanying exhibition, "The Chairman of the Committee on Information Technology." We are confident that the commitment of CAIT's strategic vision and outlook in the field of E-Government and the necessary infrastructural projects will have a positive impact on the national economy and the development of the e-government sector in Kuwait in the near future. Therefore, we invite all governmental departments and citizens to visit the E-Government Forum and appreciate the many services that are now available online. We are sure that the event will be a success and that it will set a positive example for future e-government forums in the region."
